GOOD NEWS FROM TULA, MISS.

DEAR RECORD:—Our pastor, J. J. Gibson, has just closed a meeting at this place, resulting in eleven accessions to the church, seven by experience and four by letter. Those received by experience are all young men and women. Among them was one young lady who made a profession seven years ago and wanted to join the Baptist church then, but her parents prevented it, and seeking an opportunity she took advantage of it, and when she was baptized she remarked that she had been trying to be "baptized for seven years, and had made it at last." We have had an excellent Sunday School all the year, and our church numbers about one hundred and forty, and we were in a better condition. Our cause is fast building up, and by the aid of Prof. Hughes' High School, which is owned and controlled by Baptists, which, by the way, is one among the best schools in the State. We expect great things for the cause of the Master. To God be all the praise.

MARS HILL.

We are glad to be able to report a good meeting held at the above church, embracing the first Lord's Day in August. The meeting continued nine days. The membership was much helped and also accessions by experience. The meeting was excellent. The pastor did most of the preaching. Bro. P. S. Rogers came on Monday and rendered good aid. Mars Hill is one of the banner churches in South Mississippi. The members are intelligent, and eight months' schools are dotted all over this country, which means much for development in the near future. Superintendent Turner has as good and as large a Sunday School as most any city church. Happy is that preacher who goes to pastor such a people as Mars Hill. I have been preaching here in protracted meetings for four years, and have been their pastor two years, and still they say, "We want no help; only God and the pastor."

A LUCKY DEAL.

Through the untiring energies of Mr. Thos. M. Ferguson, he has at last succeeded in getting a president for Fairview College, a man whom he has every reason to believe will be an ornament to the school and of lasting benefit to the State, as the president of Birmingham and elsewhere in the State speak in the highest terms of Prof. L. L. Vann, not only as a gentleman, but as a scholar and teacher of rare attainments. It is not every man who knows what to teach that has the faculty to impart his knowledge. It is said of Prof. Vann that he is wonderfully gifted in this respect. Ambitious young men and young ladies in different parts of the State are now anxiously looking forward to the 11th of September to enroll their names in this institution of learning.

DEAR RECORD:—For some time an unkind feeling has existed in our town, and not even snailshells among some of our members, but thank God "old things" have been obliterated and peace and love reign supreme. Consequently we are joyful, and want the world to know it through THE RECORD, which is a great light to guide us along the path of life.

Yes, we have had a meeting, a precious revival, conducted by that prince of evangelists, Brother B. N. Hatch. For nine days he proclaimed the gospel of our blessed Master with great earnestness and power. Christians were greatly strengthened, and some who had wandered, returned to their "first love." Besides, seventeen found the "pearl of great price," fourteen of whom duly and meekly followed their Savior in baptism. Many became happy, and we even had some shouting. I would like to dilate upon Bro. Hatch's preaching and methods, but fear it would fall by the "wayside," i. e., into that basket. However I must say he works in the Lord's vineyard with so much zeal that it draws others to him. He has an abiding faith which encourages his helpers.

I have heard that he does not preach repentance. Well, our people know that he did here. Not only this, but other prerequisites. In fact, we think Jesus' gospel was preached by him in purity. He held three services a day, organized a young ladies and young men's prayer meeting, several of whom prayed in public and went to work at once with their unconverted friends. Work—work in love is the order now. We thank God for sending Brother Hatch to us, for as an instrument in His hands, he has accomplished an untold amount of good and we ask God to continue to bless his labors.

Brother Hatch came to us without any understanding as to temporal care and said "pay what you think is right and I will be satisfied," and he was too.

This is good as it gives town and country churches an equal opportunity, with city churches to secure his services.

Our pastor, Dr. J. T. Zaly, who has been afflicted two months, was unable to assist in the meeting and was present via. I yone no rad I.

brethren, we have a good pastor. Won't you all pray he may soon be restored to health and to us? If it be consistent with God's sweet will, for we love and miss him so much.

D. W. PATTERSON.

N. B.—On the last day by request, Bro. Hatch took up a collection for missions, etc., which resulted in $30.

THE MERIDIAN SASH AND BLIND FACTORY.

[We take pleasure in giving this from the Birmingham News. This factory is one of the most useful business enterprises of our city. Their advertising card can be found in our columns.]

The above well known South Side firm have decided for the convenience of their patrons to establish a North Side office and sample rooms, and for this purpose have secured the corner of Third avenue and Twentieth street, formerly occupied by the Law's Carpet Company, where they will show samples of their cypress, oak and pine doors, sash and inside finish, mantels, grates and hardware. The general salesrooms, warehouses and mantel rooms will be continued at the same old stand, 1912 to 1920 Powell avenue, South Side.

These firms have finished and are finishing some of the best houses in the city, and at present have contracts for Jos. R. Smith, Jr.'s handsome residence on the Highlands. The house is to be finished throughout in oak, mahogany and cypress. The parlor mantel is to be in white mahogany, the hall and dining room mantels in oak. These three mantels will be the handsomest ever sold in Birmingham.

The Meridian Sash and Blind Factory have contracted for the inside finish, sash, doors and blinds, for W. T. Northington's residence. The house is to be finished in cypress and oak throughout.

Steward & Eddy have the contract to put in seventy-five mantels in the Hotel Albert at Selma, Ala. This contract was taken in competition with some of the largest mantel manufacturers in the country.

In addition to the above, these firms are furnishing numbers of other houses in this city, as well as houses in Talladega, Springville, Gadsden, Atlanta, Atlanta, Ga., and other places. If you are building, you cannot afford not to call on Steward & Eddy and the Meridian Sash and Blind Factory, as they can sell you doors, windows, blinds, inside finish, mantels, grates, cement, plaster, hair, sewer pipe and hardware cheaper than any firm in Alabama. Call and see them at 1912 Powell Avenue, South Side, or corner Third avenue and Twentieth street, North Side; also at their office and factory in this city.

LEA COLLEGE.

I hope I am not asking too much to say this in THE RECORD. I believe that Lea College is the only institution of the kind in Southwest Mississippi. It is a college worthy of patronage. Instruction thorough, moral influences good. Having been the attending physician at the school, I can say that Sister Oaken takes as much interest in the health and welfare of the girls as she would if they were her own children. No institution holds its pupils better. This is evident from the per cent of graduates, which is larger than any institution in the State. This college is located in the heart of the most densely populated Baptist country in the world, and if the Baptist people in this part of the State will give Lea College the patronage and support that it deserves, we will have at Summit, Miss., a college equal to, if not superior, to the best in the State, and then the college would help the people and the churches, and elevate the educational tone of society. We would not seek to draw from any other institution the patronage which legitimately belongs to it, but would rather see each community sustain its own school, for there is amply enough for all.

I speak knowing when I say that no young lady will ever have cause to be ashamed of the diploma she may get at Lea College.

Fraternally,

A GOOD MEETING AT HAMBURG.

DEAR RECORD:—The Hamburg Baptist church began a protracted meeting on last Saturday, Pastor W. J. Derrick, preached. Elder J. Green arrived on Sunday morning and preached alternately with our pastor for a few days, when Elder John Hemby arrived and preached. A Brother Derrick, a henniate, also participated in the exercises. Bro. Lowrey, of the Blue Mountain Female College, did some good work. Our pastor was excused during the meeting on account of the illness of his wife. He left the work of conducting the meeting in charge of Bro. Green who did a noble work from the time of his arrival until the close of the meeting yesterday. The Spirit of the Lord was with us from the beginning to the close of the meeting. The Lord added ten to our membership: six by experience, one by restoration and three by letter. The religion of Jesus prevails in our community. To God be the praise.

Yours fraternally,

J. M. GRIFFING.

[We print of this letter for the good-will there is in it.—Eus.]

EDITOR RECORD:—I am due you an apology for waiting for Brother Long to remind me of the expiration of my time for our dear paper. I have been too long a lover and reader of its columns to give it up without an effort to hold on to it. It was not intentional, it was unaware that I was called from home to witness the interment of another dear and loved one in our Father's graveyard at Shannon, Miss. The subject was Miss Eva Lowe, a beautiful daughter of a very, very dear sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Lowe, who now reside in Cairo, Ill. Their sweet child was intellectually all that they could have wanted. She was just nineteen years old and the idol of her parents, two dear, noble brothers and one younger sister. She was, in her long affliction the name patient, gentle, meek creature. She has gone to the place our Savior went to prepare a home for all who love and serve him, where I have so many already gone. I fear I sin in wanting the time short ere I am numbered with them in heaven.

Before I close I must ask your pardon for consuming so much of your valuable time, and I ask you please be so kind, if you have one to spare, send me the first issue of THE RECORD in July and very much obliged. I am filing them and treasure them very much, and do not want one lacking.

Very respectfully,

E. J. RASBERRY.
